

Fiber Optic Cable Huijue

AI Overview

Huijue hosts leading fiber optic manufacturers like Shanghai Huijue Network and Huizhou Fibercan, offering a wide range of optical cables and components for global telecom and networking applications.

Key Manufacturers

Shanghai Huijue Network Communication Equipment Co., Ltd. is a major player in fiber optic solutions, established in 2000 and headquartered in Shanghai. The company integrates R&D, manufacturing, and sales, producing products such as fiber optic patch cords, distribution frames, joint closures, connectors, transceivers, and network cabinets. Their production capacity exceeds 200 million units annually, and their products are widely used in telecommunications, LAN/Ethernet management, campus networks, intelligent districts, and electronic government projects. They export to countries including the USA, Germany, Brazil, India, and Australia.

Huizhou Fibercan Industrial Co., Ltd., founded in 2009 by Mr. Cidic Li, operates a 30,000 $\square$ industrial park in Huizhou, Guangdong Province, with over 800 employees. Fibercan specializes in fiber optic cables, cable assembly, precision molds, plastic injection, and related equipment. Their products are exported globally, covering Africa, the Americas, Europe, Asia, and Oceania, with an export percentage of 81-90%. They focus on high-quality optical solutions for both domestic and international markets.

Product Range

Both companies provide a comprehensive range of fiber optic products, including:

- Optical fiber patch cords (single-mode and multi-mode)
- Optical splitters (PLC, fused couplers, blade type, box type)
- Fiber optic adapters and flanges
- Indoor and outdoor optical cables (G.652, G.657A2 standards)
- Network cabinets and distribution frames

These products support telecom networks, data centers, campus networks, and intelligent infrastructure projects.

Applications and Global Reach

Fiber optic cables from Huijue manufacturers are widely used in:

- Telecommunications: China Telecom, China Mobile, China Unicom
- Power and energy sectors: State Grid and rela...
