AI Overview

Nordic ladder cable trays (X-Tray) are premium, customizable cable management systems, with prices influenced by material, size, load capacity, and installation requirements. Price Overview The cost of Nordic ladder cable trays varies depending on several factors: Material: Stainless steel, hot-dip galvanized steel, or other corrosion-resistant coatings affect pricing. Stainless steel trays are typically higher in cost due to durability and resistance to harsh environments. Dimensions: Standard lengths are around 2.4 meters, but custom lengths or widths can increase the price. Load Capacity: Trays designed to support heavier cables or higher cable density may cost more due to reinforced construction. Customization: Nordic Wire Tray offers tailored solutions for specific project requirements, including bends, cut-to-size trays, and specialized fittings, which can influence the final quote. For general reference, hot-dip galvanized ladder trays of standard length (2.4 meters) are commonly priced per unit, with additional costs for fittings and accessories. Exact pricing requires a formal quote from the supplier, as it depends on project-specific specifications. Installation and Value Nordic X-Tray ladder cable trays are designed for fast and cost-effective installation, with fewer parts and longer bracket spacing, reducing labor costs. Their open ladder design allows for excellent ventilation, easy cable access, and long-term durability, which can offset initial investment by lowering maintenance and replacement costs. How to Obtain a Quote To get an accurate price quote for your project: Contact Nordic Wire Tray directly via their website or sales team. Provide details such as tray length, width, material, load requirements, and any custom fittings. Request a formal quotation including delivery and installation options if needed.
