

Price of Waterproof Cover for Indoor Distribution Box

AI Overview

Waterproof covers for indoor distribution boxes typically range from $10 to $50 depending on size, material, and IP rating.

Price Range and Options

Compact ABS Plastic Boxes: Small indoor distribution boxes with IP65 waterproof covers, suitable for 2-way circuit breakers, are available for around $10–$20 on platforms like Amazon. These often include mounting brackets and DIN rails for easy installation.

Medium to Large Boxes: Larger IP65–IP66 boxes with transparent covers for wall-mounted circuit breakers or multiple modules generally cost $25–$50. These provide better visibility, easier maintenance, and more internal space for wiring.

Industrial or Customizable Covers: For commercial or industrial applications, IP65–IP67 rated covers in metal or reinforced plastic can be purchased through suppliers like Alibaba, with prices varying based on size, material, and bulk orders. These may start around $30 and increase depending on specifications.

Key Features Affecting Price

Material: ABS or polycarbonate construction is common; UV-stabilized or reinforced plastics may cost more.

IP Rating: Higher protection (IP66–IP68) against water and dust increases cost.

Size and Capacity: Larger boxes or those supporting multiple breakers or DIN rails are more expensive.

Transparency and Access: Transparent covers for easy monitoring add convenience and slightly higher price.

Additional Accessories: Mounting brackets, sealing gaskets, and pre-assembled kits can influence the final cost.

Where to Buy

Online Retailers: Amazon, ManoMano, and similar e-commerce platforms offer ready-to-ship options for residential and small commercial use.

Industrial Suppliers: Alibaba and SinoBreaker provide customizable or bulk solutions for industrial applications.

In summary, for a standard indoor waterproof distribution box cover, expect to pay $10–$50, with higher-end or industrial-grade options costi...
