

Russian factory electrical distribution box installation manufacturer

AI Overview

Key Russian manufacturers of electrical distribution boxes include GEYA, Ekoplast, IEK Group, and DKC, offering certified, modular, and installation-ready solutions. GEYAGEYA has a strong presence in Russia, providing fully equipped distribution boxes for residential and commercial applications. Their products include Miniature Circuit Breakers (MCBs), Residual Current Breakers with Over-Current (RCBOs), over/under voltage protectors, and modular DIN-rail components. GEYA emphasizes compliance with Russian (EAC/GOST) and European standards, and offers installation guidance, manuals, and troubleshooting support to ensure safe and efficient on-site assembly. Ekoplast is a Russian manufacturer specializing in electrical installation materials, including distribution boxes, junction boxes, cable channels, and accessories. Their products are certified under ISO 9001:2008 and GOST R standards, and many also meet CE standards for the European Union. Ekoplast focuses on high-quality, affordable solutions for both hidden and outdoor wiring, with automated production processes ensuring consistent quality. IEK Group offers a wide range of electrical installation products, including metal enclosures with mounting panels (SMDB TITAN) and modular systems. Their ARMAT and BRITE series provide reliable protection and switching solutions for industrial and residential networks. IEK emphasizes multi-stage quality control, compliance with Russian and international standards, and user-friendly designs tailored to professional electricians. DKC is one of the largest Russian producers of low-voltage equipment and cable support systems, including distribution boxes. Founded in 1998, DKC focuses on high-quality materials, innovation, and international standards compliance (ISO 9001). They supply products globally and maintain regio...
